Product Description

Puig Frontal Spoiler Smoked 20522H Reinforce the Racing aesthetics and improve the aerodynamics of your motorcycle with the new frontal spoiler GP from Puig. The new GP spoiler is the result of the most advanced knowledge and technologies in the field of competition motorcycling, and has been designed and manufactured entirely in Barcelona. The GP front spoiler for the BMW S1000RR has been specially designed to enhance your BMW with the most advanced technology in the field of aerodynamics, a direct legacy of high competition such as the MotoGP world championship. Entirely designed and manufactured in Barcelona under the latest technology, the GP front spoiler is made of high-quality 4mm PMMA, a material highly resistant to impacts, splashes and UV. Its special design guarantees maximum safety thanks to the 2mm radius rounded edges. Puig offers the possibility of customizing the spoilers, being able to choose from a wide range of colors. And if the customer wishes, the Puig adhesive kit can be added, which includes the product in the colors blue and red. The piece is easily assembled, no more than 15 minutes, and does not require specific mechanical knowledge or special tools. Fixing through small metal supports and rubber pieces designed by the house. It does not require drilling the original fairing of the motorcycle. There are many benefits that the spoiler produces on your motorcycle, among which +7.8 Kg of Downforce on the front axle, anti-shimmie effect at high speeds and anti-wheelie effect stand out. We can also enjoy greater stability in changes of direction.
